TROUBLE BREWING.

Members of the Friendships Reported for Insubordination.

A small cloud, scarcely larger than a man's hand, was observed not long since hovoring over the city fire departmen . Its size has steadily increased and it has been deemed best for the fire board to make an effort to remove it from their

It is charged that at the recent fire at the Virginia Brewery N. J. Quinn and William Murphy, members of Friendship Fire Company No. 3, were guilty of insubordination. Charges have been prefered against them, and on Monday, April 4th, the fire board will investigate them and apply the proper remedy.

Monday, Aprli 4th, the fire board will investigate them and apply the proper remedy.

Section 4 of an ordinance adopted by the City Council for the government of the department provides as follows:

"The chief engineer, or in his absence the assistant engineers, shall have control over the members of the fire department while in service at fires, and may, for insubordination, suspend any company from service for such a period as may be deemed proper, subject to an appeal by said company to the fire board."

Rule 4 of the rules of the department stipulates that there cannot be any appeal from the orders of the chief engineer, except through the fire board, and it must be done in writing within fifteen days after occurrence.

Rule 13 requires the greatest degree of silence, consistent with a proper discharge of duties at fires, and declares that boisterous conduct or noisy conversation will be considered a breach of discipline.

These rules were approved by the fire and water committee of the City Council and Thomas W. Miller, city solicitor.

The trouble with Quinn and Murphy

cil and Thomas W. Miller, city solicitor.

The trouble with Quinn and Murphy originated at the fire which destroyed the main building of the Virginia Brewing Company. First Assistant Chief Etgleby gave a member of the Friendship Fire Company an order, but he refused to obey it, and it is charged, indulged in profanity. Mr. Engleby did not know him and applied to Thomas McNamara, foreman of the company, for his name, but was met with an absolute refusal to disclose it.

An order which Murphy refused to

An order which Murphy refused to obey was given by Second Assistant Chief McFall, the former replying that he was not there to run errands, and invited the assistant to perform it himself.

The fire board is determined to enforce discipline in all the companies, and if the accused are proven guilty their dismissal will be asked for. If this is refused, stronger measures will no doubt be adopted and the City Council asked to enforce them.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Citizens Are Anxious That This Body be Revived.

Notwithstanding Roanoke city boasts a population of 25,000 souls, she has no board of health.

The last board was composed of Drs. Tice, Morgan and Hodgson. The two first named resigned several months first named resigned several months since, but the City Council has not elected their successors. Spring, the season of the year which is generally prolific in danger to health and sickness, is here and the necessity for cleansing up the streets, alleys and the back premises of residents is apparent, but no steps have been taken in this direction.

back premises of residents is apparent, but no steps have been taken in this direction.

A representative of The Times talked to many citizens yesterday about the sanitary situation in the city, and with one accord they depre cated the fact that Roanoke had no board of health, and that the work of placing the city in a proper sanitary condition was likely to be delayed unnecessarily. City Solicitor Miller said that at the last meeting of Council he suggested that the ordinance committee of this, body be instructed to revise all of the city ordinances so as to bring them in harmony with the new charter, and that the revision should embrace the board of health. Dr. Kirk, president of the board of public works, and a former member of the board of health. did not think any great amount of good could be accomplished by the board unless it was given authority to enforce its orders. Otherwise a sanitary inspector could accomplish more if he would attend closely to his duties.

would attend closely to his duties.

The hope was expressed yesterday that Council will look after the necessity of electing a full board, and in-augurating a system of thorough cleans ning of streets, etc., at its next meeting. Delay means danger to health and life, whereas prompt action will show a commendable desire to promote the best interests of the city in preserving the health of its inhabitants, and will bear excellent fruit. bear excellent fruit.

To Name Their Candidates.

The citizens of the Fifth ward, irrespective of political parties, will hold a public meeting at Moorman's store to discuss the spring elections and determine who they will support for the City Council and other positions to be filled. Many votors in this ward are opposed to a primary, but in the event that nominations are made by the state of the council and other positions. tions are made by this plan, and they decide to participate in it, they think it advisable to unite upon the candidates they believe will best represent their interests.
